

Albireo Energy

Albireo Energy is a national smart building automation and energy service provider, and has been delivering building automation solutions throughout Southern California since 1996. Today, Albireo Energy's Poway office has approximately 170 professionals dedicated to installing building automation, energy efficiency measures, fire detection and security systems in thousands of buildings throughout California and adjacent markets.

Software Engineer I

Title: Software Engineer I

Location: San Diego, CA

Department: Programming Group

Reports to: Programming Group Manager

The Software Engineer will primarily be responsible for programming PLC and Supervisory Controllers for building energy management systems, perform system startup, and handle troubleshooting.

Responsibilities:

- Sequence of Operation reading and interpretation
- Program Supervisory and Field Controllers
- Create database for building management system
- Systems startup and troubleshoot
- Interact with Project Managers and report problems or changes immediately
- Manage assigned work to meet customer deadlines

Requirements:

- Bachelor Degree or equivalent experience
- Demonstrated technical aptitude
- Excellent communication and computer skills
- Attention to detail
- Four years of experience in HVAC controls installation and programming
- Eligible to participate in the RAPIDGate® Program
- Previous experience with any Programming Language is a plus

To apply, please email your resume, with the job title in the subject line, to careers@albireoenergy.com.